DatabaseWindow

(Q) Can I hide the database window ?

tags:
HowTo

(R) No, the database window cannot be hidden. It can however be minimized.

What is called here the database window is the screen welcoming the user when (s)he opens a database front-end file (suffixed with ".odb") where the tables, queries, forms and reports are listed.
It can be desirable to hide that window and, instead, opening a form for example.

Minimize the database window

Very easy code but it's as easy for the user to restore it with a mouse click. Nevertheless ... first select the database window then minimize it.

```
Const acDatabaseWindow = 102
        SelectObject(acDatabaseWindow)
        Minimize()
```

A variant:

```
Const acDatabaseWindow = 102
        SelectObject(acDatabaseWindow)
        MoveSize ,,10,10
```

See also

SelectObject
Minimize Maximize
MoveSize

Bookmark this page » » DatabaseWindow